"Helping People Communicate Better, Lead Better and Live Better."

ABOUT ME

Nelson Victor is the founder of Te-Fiti Life Skills Academy, a learning and development organization committed to transforming individuals into confident communicators, effective leaders, and industry-ready professionals.

With over 15 years of experience across hospitality, higher education, and corporate learning, Nelson has designed and delivered impactful training programs that combine experiential learning with practical workplace applications. His programs inspire behavioural change, enhance communication, strengthen leadership, and improve employability.

Recognized for his engaging facilitation style and outcome-driven approach, he has partnered with educational institutions, corporate organizations, and leadership teams to create meaningful learning experiences that leave a lasting impact.

Nelson firmly believes that learning should not merely transfer knowledge—it should transform behaviour.

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Nelson specializes in designing and delivering customized learning interventions that bridge the gap between education and industry expectations.

His expertise spans leadership development, communication excellence, behavioural transformation, employability enhancement, and organizational capability building.

As a facilitator, coach, and curriculum designer, he creates highly interactive learning experiences using experiential learning methodologies, simulations, gamification, reflective exercises, coaching conversations, and real-world workplace scenarios.

Every program is designed with one objective:
Learning that creates measurable behavioural change.
